AbiLitee: The mysterious power that people claim to have when they do something right, even if they have no idea how they did it.

AbRaCaDaBrA: The ultimate magic word is what everyone shouts to make their problems disappear.

AbS: The sound you make when you stub your toe and try to swear at the same time.

abiSsaL: That feeling when you drop your phone face-down and hear the crack before flipping it over.

akaDeMee: A place where people pay lots of money to learn things they could have Googled for free.

AxiDeNt: When you spill coffee on your white shirt five minutes before a date with your grandmother.

aChieV'MeNt: The glorious moment when you finally manage to parallel park.

aCiD: A pill that makes you realize that horses are just human beings with hair and makes you want to lick the sidewalk because it looks so colorful under the sea.

AghEZuMzUm: The word a Sim says to show another Sim they're interested in having a sexual relationship.

aXioN: What happens when you finally decide to do something about your life.

aDvisOri: The fancy word for "suGgeShtiOn" that makes advice sound like it came straight from a fortune cookie.

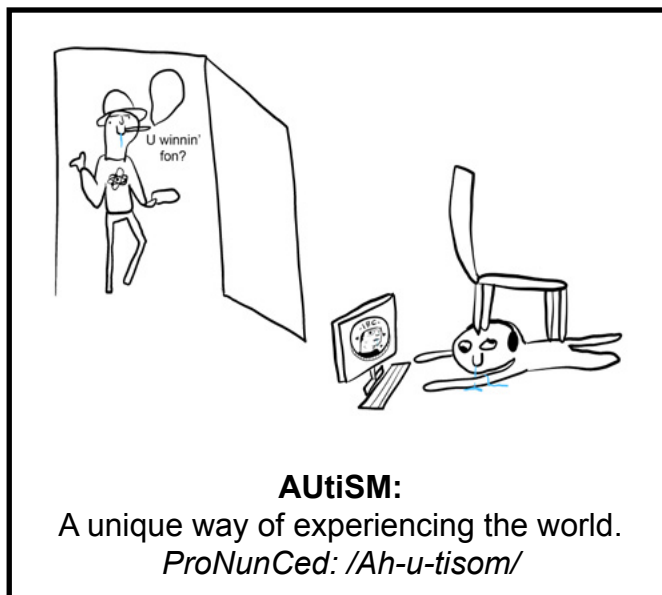

aeStHeticAL: When your outfit matches your social feed perfectly, but no one knows you actually have head lice and nits.

aFreD: A feeling that imbeciles have never experienced, as it originates from the synapses and brain.

aGgReGayToR: A fancy word for a website that steals content from other websites so you don't have to visit them all.

AiRdRoP: When someone gives you air for free.

aLaRm: A loud noise designed to startle you awake in the morning and ruin your dreams.

aLcOh'OLic: A person who has a profound appreciation for the finer qualities of fermented grain and grape beverages.

aLocAtioN: The complex art of deciding who gets the biggest slice of the pizza.

aLfaBeT: A magical sequence of letters that, when put together, doesn't mean anything at first but gains meaning when arranged correctly.

aMaZiNg: Something you become upon reading the definition. Congratulations.

aMnEsia: When you can't remember where your seed phrase is and start questioning your own existence.

aMoUnT: The precise amount of tokens required to turn a hater into a skilled shiller.

aMuSiNg: The state of mind you achieve when you watch an imbecile chase its own tail for ten minutes straight.

aNiMoL: A creature that stares at you blankly while you talk to it in a high-pitched voice.

aNoN: The mysterious person who keeps leaving passive-aggressive notes everywhere on the internet.

apEaRaNcE: The effort you put into looking presentable while secretly being awful inside.

aPOiNtMeNt: A scheduled event where you pretend to listen while mentally being elsewhere.

aQuAfArM: A place where fish learn to swim and plants learn to grow, under the watchful eye of ducks learning how to cook.

ArBiTrAgE: A confusing financial game where people buy something in one place and sell it in another, hoping to make a profit, but most of the time, this game really isn't funny.

ARkeoLOgY: The art of finding old stuff buried in the ground, possibly belonging to your great-great-great-great-great-grandmother from centuries past or dinosaurs.

ArBiTrUm: A place where disputes are settled using a combination of ancient rituals and rock-paper-scissors tournaments.

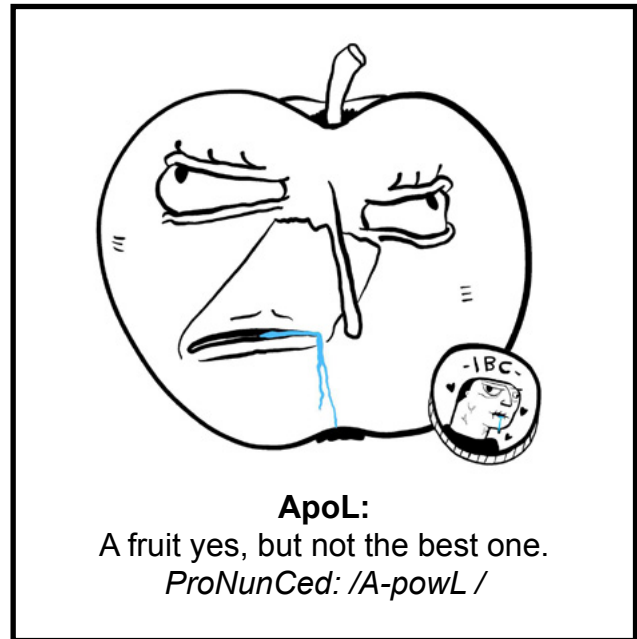

aRrOw: A sharp stick that likes to point out the obvious by sticking into things you probably shouldn't have aimed at.

aRticHoKe: A vegetable that looks like a pine cone and requires an advanced degree in dismantling to access its edible parts.

ApU APuStAJa: The lovable, misshapen frog that tries to help but usually just makes everything more awkward and chaotic.

aRtifssial InTeLidgEnce: The technology that promises a futuristic utopia while simultaneously threatening to destroy the world.

aRtifssial DuMBneSS: A technology that creates nothing and lets you live the imbecilic life you've always wanted.

aSsEt: Something you own that you hope will increase in value, but you're usually the exit liquidity.

aSstRoLoGee: The ancient practice of blaming the alignment of celestial bodies for your personality quirks.

aStRoNot: Someone who willingly straps themselves onto a giant explosive device just to see what happens when they press all the buttons.

AToM: The tiny building block of matter that scientists split to create nuclear power, and the rest of us do not think about it because would we?

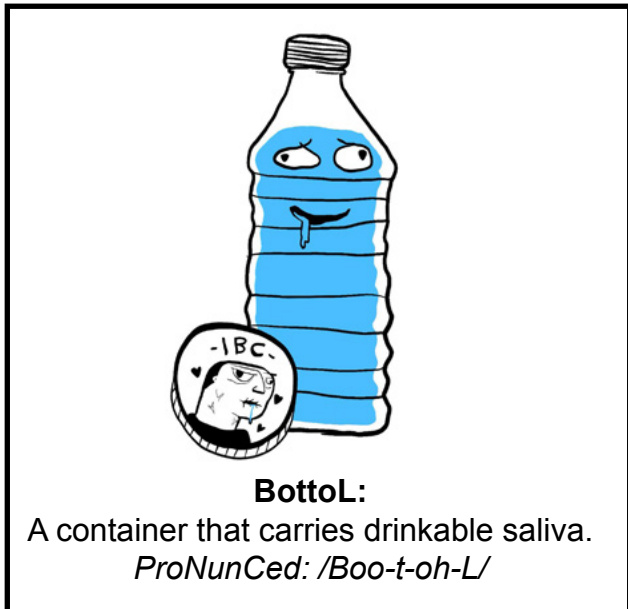

aWAKE: The state of being where you realize you're deep into a rabbit hole about conspiracy theories.

CaN: A metal container that holds mysterious contents, like beans or worms, and makes a great drum when you're bored.

CaBaL: A group of imbeciles who meet in a basement to discuss their grand plans to rearrange the alphabet

CaBbAgE: A leafy green vegetable that imbeciles often confuse with lettuce, leading to awkward salads and puzzled expressions at dinner parties.

CrYpt-oh: An attempt to pretend you understand digital money by saying "I'm investing in crypt-oh currencies" while secretly hoping no one asks you what that actually means.

CaCaO: A mysterious bean that comes from a plant on Earth that grows chocolate bars.

CaLcULaTiOnS: The complicated process where imbeciles stare at numbers, scratch their heads, and then use a "KekuLatOr" to guess the answer

CoFmOf: A "network of blockchains" that's supposed to connect everything.

CaMpAin: When people go door-to-door with flyers, trying to convince everyone to vote for their lame next mayor.

CaMpInG: The activity where you leave your comfortable home to sleep in the woods, fight with tents, and call it "fun" while battling mosquitoes and raccoons.

CaNsELLaTiOn: The joyous moment when you realize you don't have to attend the boring event you RSVP'd to.

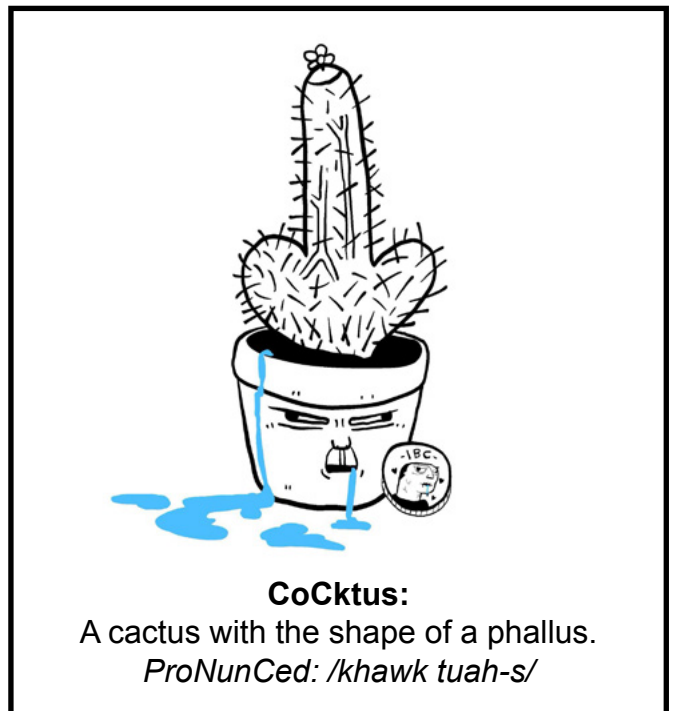

CaNoE: A wobbly boat that imbeciles use to paddle in circles on a lake, often ending up more wet than when they started.

CaNdoL: A stick of wax with a string in the middle that you light on fire to either win or lose money.

CaPtAiNsHiP: The fancy position imbeciles imagine they'd excel in, believing it involves wearing a hat and shouting orders like a pirate.

CaReAr: An attempt to spel "career" by someone who's still trying to figure out what they want to be when they grow up.

CaRaVaN: A line of dumb cars on a highway, each following the one in front of them blindly to go somewhere probably cool.

CaSh: Magical paper

CaZiNo: A place where imbeciles go to test their luck and mathematical skills simultaneously, usually ending up with fewer chips than they started with but claiming they had a great time.

CaTaCLizM: An imbecilic way of describing a really big mess, like when someone tries to microwave a metal fork and the kitchen explodes.

CeLeBritY: A person famous for reasons no one remembers anymore, often seen endorsing products they clearly don't use and posting selfies that break the internet for all the wrong reasons.

CeRtifieD: An stamp of approval that makes someone feel important enough to hang a certificate on their wall.

CHairMaN: A scientific experiment that led to a half-human, half-chair creature.

cHaMpioNfiP: An event where grown-ups play games and give each other shiny trophies, pretending they're still in elementary school and that winning means something important.

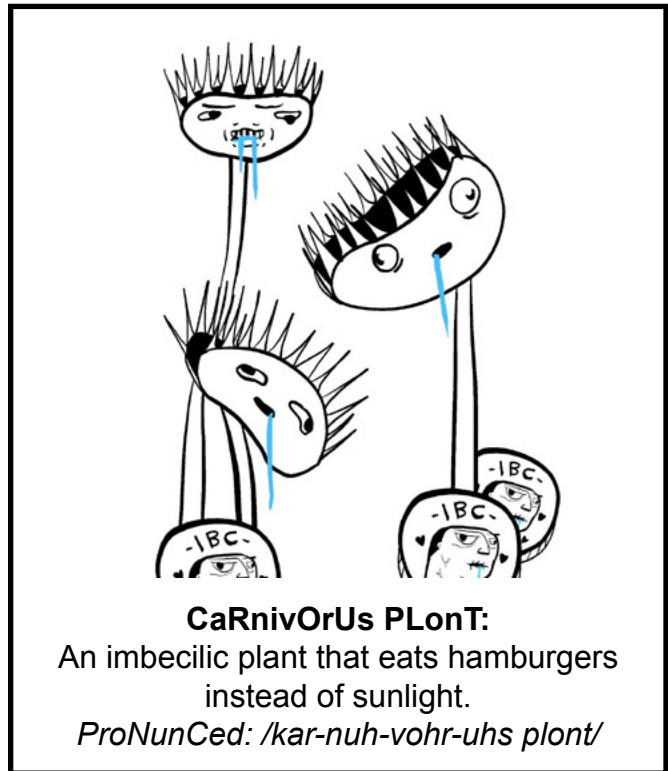

cHaOs: What happens when you try to organize a surprise party but forget to invite the guest of honor and accidentally set the cake on fire.

cHaRt: A colorful stick drawing that makes numbers and trends look important, but really just confuses everyone who looks at it.

CaSsoL: An imbecilic person's fantasy fortress from the Middle Ages, with a moat filled with leftover stew and a drawbridge that squeaks louder than the castle bard's lute.

ChAtTiNg: The most stupid activity of typing yes or no on a keyboard with one finger only until someone replies back.

ChEwinG: The imbecilic act of moving your jaw up and down like a confused cow, just to turn food into a mushy paste that will disappear in your belly.

cHeApNeSs: The pursuit of finding the lowest price possible, even if it means sacrificing quality, dignity, and occasionally, pants.

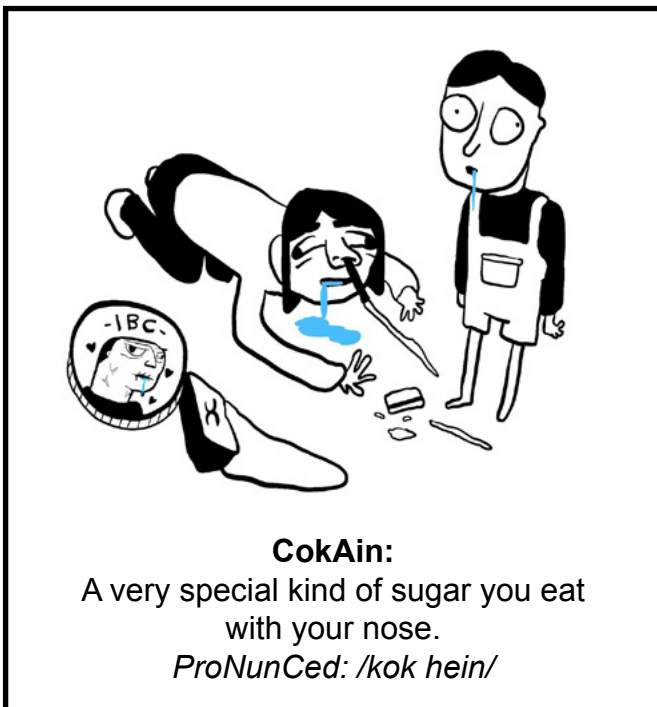

cHeEzi: An imbecilic attempt at humor or romance that's so over-the-top it makes everyone cringe.

cHeMiSt: A genius who uses Osmosis Zone to mix colorful liquids in test tubes and occasionally forgets to label them.

chIck'n: A bird that crosses roads for reasons nobody quite understands but at least it tastes good.

cHoRoGrAfiEs: Imbecilic attempts at dancing, where people move their feet in random directions.

chRisMASt: When people go wild decorating their homes with enough lights to confuse Santa, and try to outdo each other in giving gifts nobody actually needs.

UnKnOwiTaLL: That person who's clueless about everything but insists on correcting everyone else.

UpOnLee: A mythical state of the market that only exists in your Twitter feed, never in real life.

UZeCaZe: The thing every project promises to have but no one can explain without falling asleep.

UmAnbeeIng: The people who live on Earth and make it a bit more interesting for God to watch, day after day.

Udidit: The word you say to someone you're convinced has done something wrong but hasn't admitted it out loud in front of everyone else, so you want everyone to know about it.

UbrOKe!

The sound a bull makes when it sees someone who's been rekt.
ProNunCed: /you-re-broke/

UberLame: The ultimate level of uncool achieved when someone tries too hard to be hip and fails miserably.

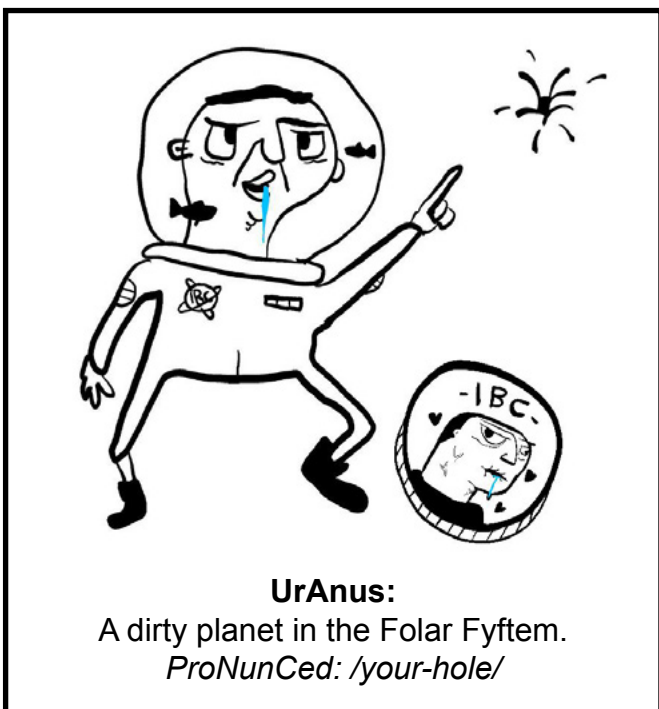

UnfUmBoL: The miraculous act of catching something you've dropped without looking like an absolute fool.

UndoXxxtTeem: The people behind a project who remain anonymous because they don't want you to find out they're high school students.

UnLimiTedPoteNchiaL: What every new token claims to have, but ends up being just another scam.

UnderDeskistAn: The secret nation under your desk, ruled by dust bunnies and lost pens.

UZLesSify: The ability to make anything completely pointless, like adding instructions to an already assembled chair.

UrAnus:

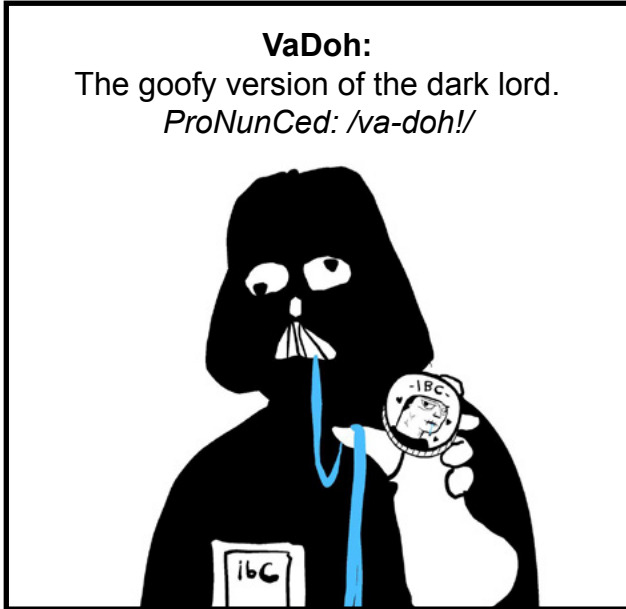

A dirty planet in the Folar Fyftem.

VaCaChion: A break from your daily misery, replaced by a more expensive kind of misery.

VoMeet: The body's dramatic way of telling you it didn't appreciate the burrito you wate earlier.

VoLKaNNo: A mountain that got bored and decided to spew lava everywhere, just for fun, while everyone says 'no!' because they're house is burning.

VeLKro: A sticky material designed to save time but ends up sticking to literally everything else instead and drives you crazy because it's freaking supposed to save you time not the opposite what the hell.

VuLtChuRe: A bird that waits until everything goes wrong before swooping in and eating the corpse of a dead cowboy.

VaZe: A fragile container that acts like a glass of water for giants but is made for flowers and breaks when you least expect it.

VoDKa: Water that turns morning bad decisions into a good time, followed by a terrible evening.

VitAmeEne: A pill that promises health benefits but mostly just gets stuck in your throat, so you'd rather eat some fruits and veggies instead, at least they taste good.

ViOLeen: A musical instrument designed to create beautiful music or torturous screeching, depending on who's playing.

VanDaL: A person whose only talent is turning perfectly good walls into unreadable scribbles.

VegeTaBoL: A plant that grows a fruit that isn't usually sweet but people pretend to enjoy eating, because of the VitAmeEne.

VaMp: Someone who thinks they're seducing you, but is really just being kind of weird.

VaPoRr: Water's way of pretending it's still there but it's actually dead and it's just its ghost staying around.

VaLLey: A dip in the Earth that exists so people can say, "Hey, look at that dip."

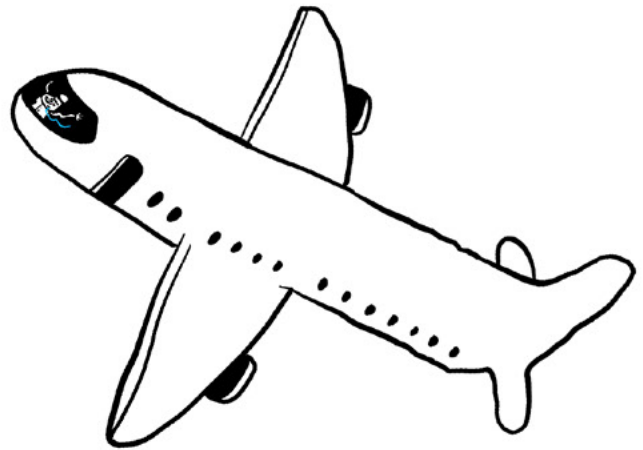

ViKtoRee: The moment when you realize winning wasn't worth all the effort.

VoUcHor: A piece of paper that promises you something free but comes with a ridiculous amount of terms and conditions.

ViRus: A microscopic villain that crashes your body like a bad software update.

VenOm: The spicy juice animals use to say, "Get lost, or I'll make your day much worse."

ViRuSsiAn: Basically just a shot of Good Morning Vodka in a syringe.

VoKaBuLaRee: The collection of fancy words you don't use unless you're trying to sound talkative at a party.

VaNiLLah: A flavor so bland that it somehow became the default for everything.

VeNtReeLoKift: A person who throws their voice into a creepy puppet because talking to real people is too hard.

ViNeGarRr: Liquid that smells so bad it's used to clean things because even dirt runs away from it.

VeeDeeo: A moving picture designed to distract you for hours when you have important things to do.

ViKiNgo: A historical figure from Denmark who wore horns and stole things, but became the mascot for strength and sailing.

VeFt: A shirt that gave up halfway and decided sleeves weren't its problem anymore.

VyAgRa: A pill that turns awkward moments into even more awkward moments for hours on end.

VeNt: A place in movies where air and thieves both go to escape, but clearly isn't big enough in the real world.

ViSa: A magical stamp that lets you visit another country, but only after selling your soul to paperwork.

ViLLadje: A tiny town where everyone knows your business before you even do.

WaFFoL: A confused pancake that can't decide if it's breakfast or a grid.

Wie-Fye: The invisible force that connects you to memes and disconnects you from productivity.

WoLLet: A magical object that easily fits in your pocket and is designed to make money disappear faster than you can make it.

WoRhM: A spineless creature that crawls in dirt and makes fishing trips more awkward than necessary.

WynDoh: A clear rectangle you stare out of when avoiding responsibilities, that can open to bring in what's outside and close whenever you want to bump into it.

WeennK: A facial twitch used to either flirt or signal you've got something in your eye.

WiTsh: A person with warts on their nose who eats magic mushrooms to create spells and potions that lead to questionable magic tricks like flying on a broom or using wood sticks as wands and black cats as... Nevermind.

WaRrRrghiOR:

Someone who spends day and night cruising in the memes trenches, waiting for victory and wealth to show up.

ProNunCed: /way-ryor/

WaLky-TaLkiE: A device that allows you to both walk and talk at the same time just to pretend you're a secret agent when you're really just annoying your friend.

WaT'rMeLoNe: A fruit full of water, you wonder if it's trying to trick you into staying hydrated.

WoMbaT: An Australian animal that sounds cute but is secretly plotting world domination through sheer laziness.

WeeG:

A sweater but for the head.

ProNunCed: /weegh/

WaLLpApoOr: A sheet of paper you stick on your wall to ensure your interior design looks great, but that can also make you poor at the same time.

WoLv'RiNe: A small animal that's way too angry for its size, much like you after one missed meal. Also a X-Meh superhero.

WaGoon: A vehicle that's supposed to carry stuff, but usually just sits in your yard rusting.

WhaLe: A massive sea creature that eats plankton, which makes no sense because plankton are tiny.

WriStWaTch: A device people used to tell time before they started staring at their phones every 30 seconds.

WoJaK: The forever-feels meme guy, representing your emotional state whenever anything happens.

WaZaBi: Green paste that pretends to be food but is really just a prank to set your mouth and nose on fire.

Wheel: A round invention that's been rolling for centuries, and we still act like it's the best thing ever.

WaffoLiRoN: A inventive medieval torture device repurposed to make breakfast more complicated.

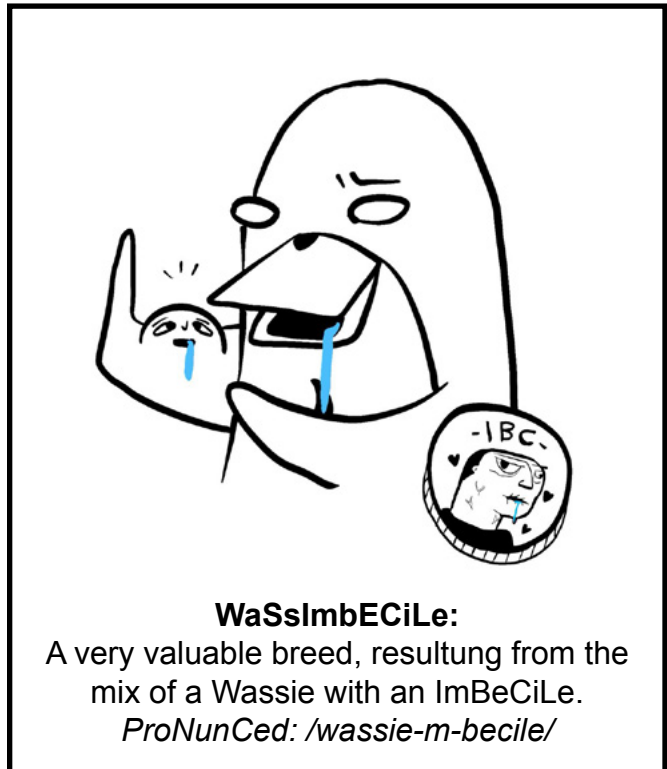

WheelbArRo: A device meant to carry heavy stuff, but usually just holds excuses for not finishing yard work.

WaNd: A stick that wizards and magicians wave around, hoping people don't notice it's just a stick.

WaLL: A vertical structure designed to hold up roofs and your motivational quotes when you're lucky enough to have more than one.

WarFoG: An animal that looks like it lost a fight with evolution but is still somehow proud of it.

WhiStoL: The sound you make when you can't think of anything to say.

WaSsImbECiLe:

A very valuable breed, resulting from the mix of a Wassie with an ImBeCiLe.

ProNunCed: /wassie-m-becile/

WoRmHoL: A shortcut through space-time that only physicists and sci-fi nerds pretend to understand. Also a WaRdrObe: A closet full of clothes you swear you'll wear but somehow always stick to the same three shirts.

WadAfak: The facial expression you make when someone says something so stupid, your system short-circuits.

WobboLeKoptor: A helicopter that's so unstable it looks like it's twerking in midair before inevitably crash landing.

WiNdWeyrd: That awkward gust of wind that appears out of nowhere just to mess up your hair and ruin your photo-op.

WeEed: A magic plant that is illegal in many countries because the governments want it for themselves.

WhiTepapOr: A document that's supposed to tell you everything you need to know about a project but is really boring.

WoFeirFoL:

A majestic cascade of saliva.

XyLoFoNe: A musical instrument that pretends hitting colorful bars with sticks counts as music.

XeNOon: A gas that sounds like it should be part of a superhero's origin story but is really just boring science stuff.

XeRox: A machine that copies your documents and your soul, one paper jam at a time.

XeNofoBia: The irrational fear of anything foreign, like that weird food your friend brought to the potluck.

X-aXisS: The part of a graph that's horizontal, which is actually very interesting because you still have no idea what it's for.

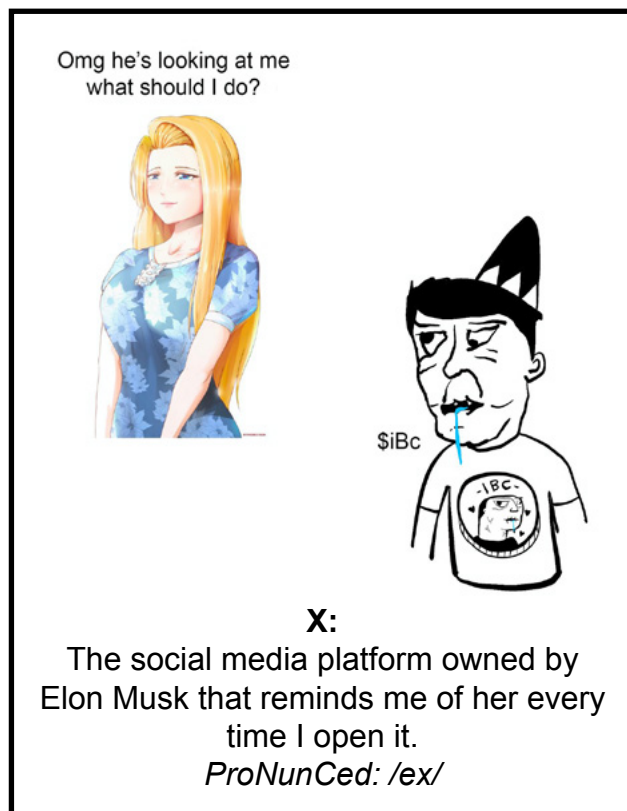

XyLoFoNizt: A person who decided the piano was too mainstream and went for banging on wooden bars instead.

XeRiScApe: A fancy word for a yard full of rocks and sadness where grass used to be.

XyLoFaGous: An animal that eats wood because regular food is for amateurs.

X-tReM': A way of describing something that's not extreme at all but sounds cooler with an "X."

XeNonLiGht: A type of light bulb that sounds like it could power a spaceship but is just really bright and overpriced.

XyLoFonOfoBia: The completely justified fear of listening to children play the xylophone.

XeNomoRf: A creepy alien from movies that makes you grateful Earth just has boring aliens.

XyZt: A fancy name for a garden path, because apparently "sidewalk" wasn't pretentious enough.

XeNoGrAft: When doctors borrow tissues from one species to patch you up, because regular human parts are apparently not cool enough.

XOxOTok'n: A token supposedly full of love, but really just full of empty promises.

XanCoIN: A coin that helps you chill out when the market tanks - side effects may include poverty.

XeNoLinGuiZt: Someone who studies alien languages, assuming we ever meet aliens who feel like chatting.

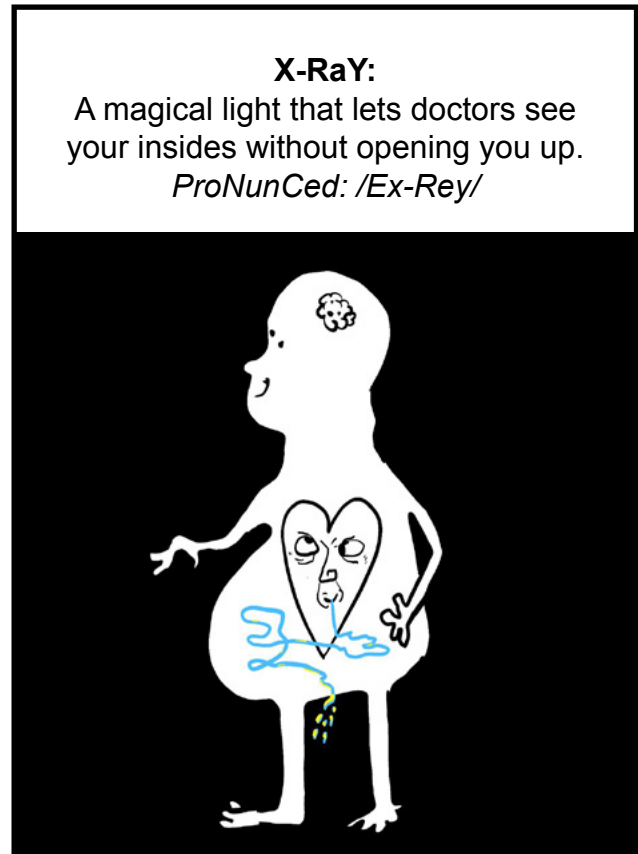

X-FaKtor: That mysterious quality that some people have, but you definitely don't, no matter how hard you try.

XRP: The crypto equivalent of "I swear it's not a scam, bro" since 2012.

XeNoBot: A robot made from living cells that makes you wonder why we're doing this instead of making flying cars.

X-Out: The ultimate solution for pretending a mistake never happened, just like deleting an embarrassing tweet.

XchaNge: A platform that swears it's not shady but always seems to "lose" your funds and the founder ends up going to jail.

X-Meh:

A team of super-powered individuals who are kinda good at saving the day but mostly just decent at it. They train in a school that's more like a high school with superpowers. They occasionally save the world, but usually end up just getting pizza and calling it a win.

YaWn: Your body's way of reminding you that life is just too boring sometimes.

YaWP: What Strange Clan holders tweet to each other.

Yo-yO: A toy designed to teach you how to fail at doing tricks repeatedly and teaches you a lot about your own life, going up and down.

YoGuRt: Milk that got tired of being boring and decided to ferment into a slightly better version of itself.

YieLdFaRmiN': The practice of moving coins around and hoping they grow like plants.

YaRd: A patch of land designed to grow weeds and give you weekly chores.

YaK: A furry animal that looks like it has all the secrets of the universe but only communicates through grunts.

YeLLoW: A color that screams, "I'm here!" even though no one asked.

YoDa: A small green alien that everyone pretends is a wise mentor, but mostly just talks in confusing sentences.

YoG: The uncomfortable noise people make when they're not sure if they're exercising or just regretting life choices.

YuTuBoVerZe: The online place where self-proclaimed crypto "experts" promise you riches right before they vanish.

YeTi-KooLer: A ridiculously expensive icebox that holds the same amount of beer as a cheaper one, but makes you look fancier.

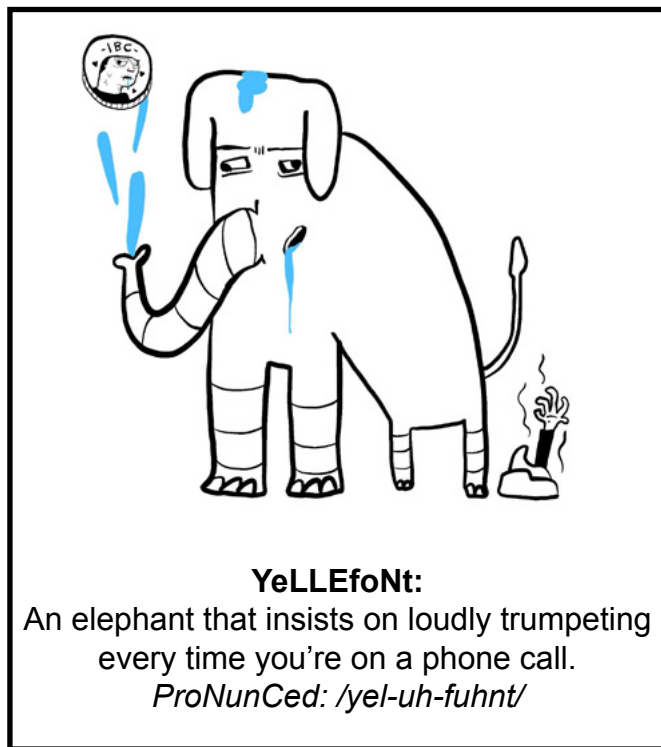

YawNvErSaChion: A conversation so boring, your head shuts down to save itself from further damage.

YieLd: A road sign that suggests you should slow down, but no one ever actually listens to it.

YoGafArt: The inevitable sound that escapes when your body is twisted into a pretzel during a yoga pose.

YaNKEe: A term that confuses everyone because it means either baseball, northern people, or a candle.

YodOL: A form of singing that scares off wild animals and most humans.

YawNaTTaCk: The uncontrollable urge to yawn in public, making everyone around you start yawning too.

YuPpie: A person who thinks owning avocado toast and wearing designer glasses makes them cool.

YiKes: The only appropriate response when you witness something cringe-worthy and have no other words.

YahoOo: Either a search engine that no one uses anymore or an imbecile who's done many dumb things in their life and acts like they have no brain cells left.

YaNk: What you do to that freaking something when it's stuck and your patience has reached zero.

YoGeeSoCk: That one sock that somehow smells worse than all your other gym clothes combined.

YarhDwORk: The eternal struggle between you and nature, where weeds always win.

YeAzt: A tiny fungus that makes bread rise and beer possible, proving that fungi aren't always gross.

YoNdOr: A direction that only exists when pointing vaguely into the distance without any real idea of where it leads.

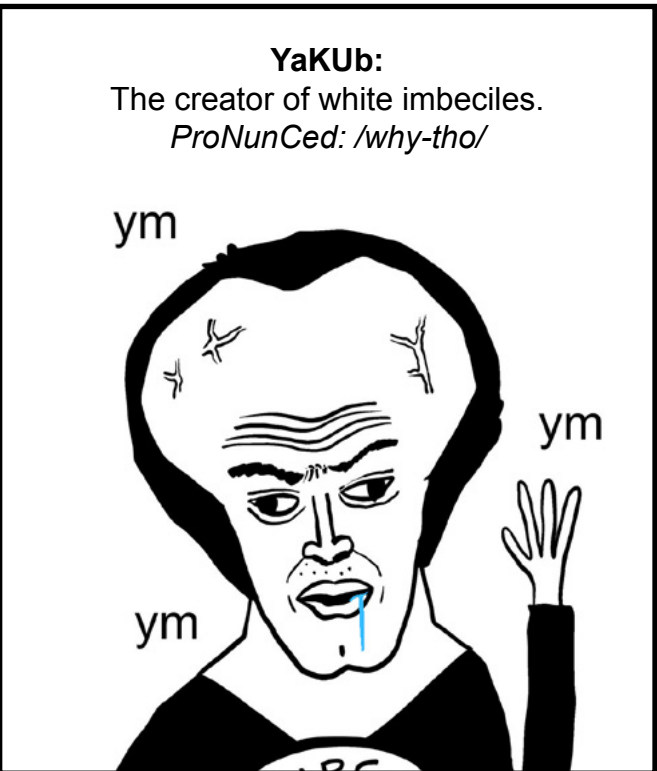

YoDeLer: A person who decides regular singing isn't annoying enough and takes it to a new level.

YoLkChAin: A blockchain project that sounds impressive but cracks under the slightest pressure.

YaMmee: A yam so delicious you start doubting all other vegetables.

YayDAi: The day you celebrate absolutely nothing but pretend it's something big just for attention.

Ye: The universal sound of disappointment that comes right before "ah, whatever."

YOLOCOin: A coin created for people who hate money and make decisions on a whim.

YoLk: The part of the egg that your cholesterol hates but your taste buds love.

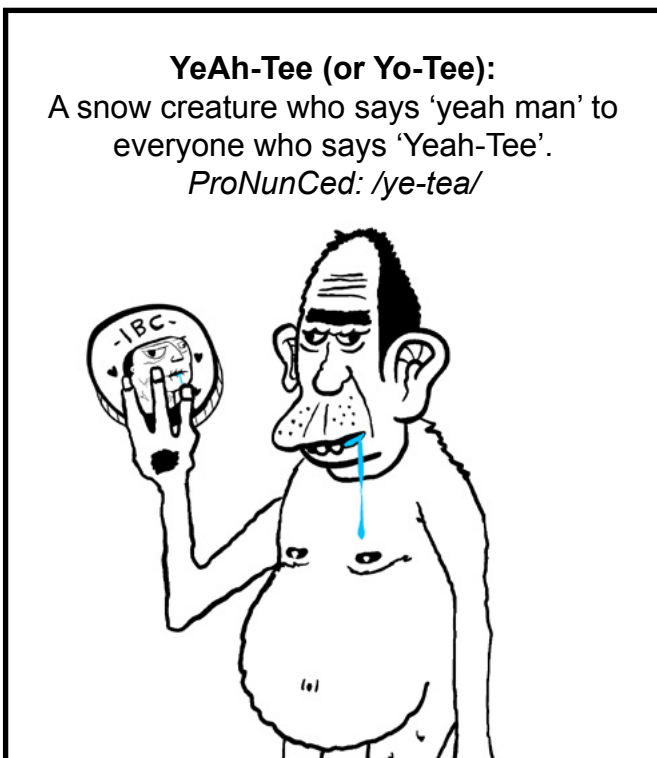

YeAr: A unit of time designed to make you realize how little you've accomplished since the last one. And by the way, you look older now.

YaCht: A rich person's boat that exists only to destroy the planet and make you feel poor and full of judgment while you watch from the shore.

YeZMan: The guy in every crypto chat agreeing with everyone, hoping to fit in somewhere.

Y tho: The question you keep asking whenever any subject comes up because, in the end, why is everything the way it is?

YeeHaWFiNaNsSe: A new cowboy-themed protocol that lassos in investors and leaves them in the dust.

ZoMbie: A human who skipped coffee and now wanders around aimlessly, searching for brains and Wi-Fi.

ZipPOr: A metal track that holds your pants together, but always jams at the worst possible moment.

ZeN: A state of calm achieved by pretending your problems don't exist while secretly screaming inside.

ZiT: A tiny face volcano that erupts the night before your big date, ruining everything.

ZoOkEepOr: A person who somehow decided managing angry lions and flinging monkey poop sounded like a great job.

ZoOm: A video meeting where people pretend they're paying attention while listening to the guy who likes to hear himself talk.

ZiLSH: The exact amount of effort you're willing to put into things you don't care about.

ZCash: Privacy coin that's so private, you can't even remember where you put it.

ZERo KnOwLEdge PrOof:

A method by which one party (the prover) can prove to another party (the verifier) that some given statement is true, unless one is lying in which case it's not useful.

ProNunCed: /Zero-Noledje-prewf/

ZigZoG: A way of walking when you're either lost or trying to avoid that one person you don't want to talk to.

ZoDyaK: A mystical and very accurate system where your future is determined by what position some stars were in when you were born.

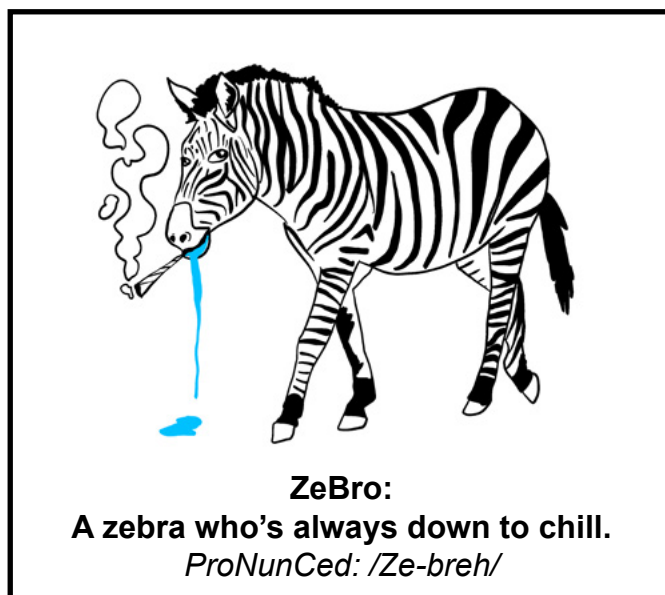

ZaMbOnee: The ice resurfacing machine that people love more than the actual hockey game

ZaNy: What people call you when they can't decide if you're funny or just plain weird.

ZOodoL: A zucchini pretending to be a noodle, trying to crash your pasta party ZaPpOr: A magical device that kills bugs and occasionally electrocutes you for fun.

ZeNiT: A fancy word for "high point" that no one actually uses except in crossword puzzles.

ZigGuRatz: An ancient pyramid structure that people built before they realized stairs were a thing.

ZipPorMoUf: A person who knows a secret but is too scared to say anything because they like having friends.

ZeRoGaZs: A blockchain promise where you'll never pay gas fees again (a lie) but IBC remains the best and cheapest option.

ZaKi: Someone who says they like Cosmos but actually drains cosmonauts' money.

ZonKt: The feeling you get after a marathon of binge-watching and forgetting how to function in real life.

ZooKeepOr'ftan: The weird suntan you get when your job forces you to spend all day outside while animals judge you.

ZoM'r: A young person born after 1995 who spends most of their life on the internet and gets confused by landlines.

ZuKiNi: A vegetable no one ever asked for, but somehow keeps showing up in dishes like it belongs.

ZiLcHpAy: When you work a full-time job but your paycheck makes it feel like you're volunteering.

ZiPp'RfAiL: When your zipper breaks at the exact moment you need it to hold things together the most.

ZoNk: The sound imbeciles make when they give up after trying to understand something way too complicated.

ZAp: What you wish you could do to annoying people, but are forced to settle for daydreaming about it.

ZooLoGee: The study of animals and why they're dumber than imbeciles in every possible way.

ZamBoNoFoBiA: The irrational fear of missing the Zamboni cleaning the ice during intermissions.

ZeaLoT: Someone who cares way too much about one thing and will annoy you until you pretend to care too.

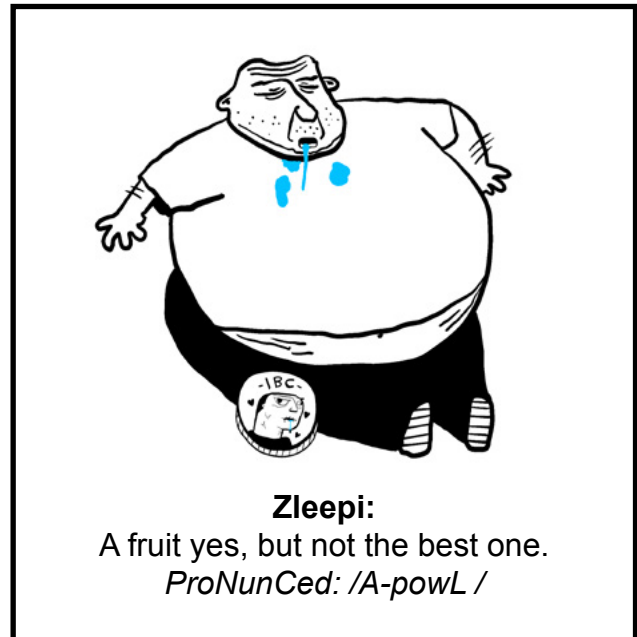

ZeFyr: A poetic name for "wind" that people only use when they're trying too hard to be fancy.

ZooMDOOm: The fear of accidentally turning on your video in a Zoom call while you're still in pajamas.

ZiggoL: The weird little dance you do when you step in something sticky.

ZaMpOLin: A title for someone who claims to defend the Cosmos ecosystem but actually rugs it, showing no real care while taking everyone else's money through tricks like a validator called 'WeirdLove"

ZapPy: A word to describe anything that gives you a shock, like licking a battery for science.

ZiLLie: A feeling of mild excitement over something that you pretend is amazing for social media.

ZuCk'RbERgEfeKt: The odd phenomenon where everything cool dies as soon as Mark gets involved.

ZK-RoLLup: Some kind of magical scaling solution nobody understands but pretends to care about.

ZePPELeen: A giant flying balloon that was a cool way to travel until it decided to explode that one time.

ZeRoToHeRo: That one path every crypto investor dreams of, but usually ends up going backward... Unless... You know, it could 100x from here... Potentially... I don't know... Let's find out.
